DO NOT MISS

Para Athletic Championships

Athletic was one of the very first disciplines to be included in the agonistic Paralympic program. Its incredible achievements represent only the apex of this movement in complete turmoil which testifies to a great passion towards this noble discipline. The Para Athletic Championships will be held in Jesolo the 11 and 12 of September. The clubs, made up of athletes with physical, sensorial and intellectual disabilities coming from all over the country will meet up at Armando Picchi Stadium to win the Italian championship titles at stake, both for male and female category. DID YOU KNOW?

Seafront of the stars

A seafront promenade like the Hollywood Walk of Fame: since 2001, Jesolo has recognised leading figures in the world of show business, TV, music, science and sport on its promenade. The Lungomare delle Stelle (Seafront of the Stars) as it is known, has become like Hollywood Boulevard in Los Angeles. During a public ceremony, a part of the walkway is named, and a print taken of the person's hands. The first was Alberto Sordi then later came stars of the calibre of Mike Bongiorno, Sofia Loren, Katia Ricciarelli, Andrea Bocelli, Gina Lollobrigida and Carla Fracci... until the more recent Alessandro Del Piero and Federica Pellegrini and Bebe Vio. The last edition has given the recognition to healthcare professionals.

JESOLAN FLAVORS

Bigoi in salsa (Spaghetti in sardine sauce)

Bigoi in salsa is a typical dish eaten on the eve of big Christian religious celebrations (first Friday of Lent, Christmas Eve, Good Friday and Ash Wednesday).

Recipe

350 g bigoi (durum wheat spaghetti) - 200 g sardines in salt - 500 g white onions - 80 g extra virgin olive oil - salt and pepper (to taste)

Wash and clean the sardines, finely chop the onions. Put the oil into a pan, add the sardines, the onions and the pepper and cook for about 15 minutes. Cook everything until the sardines have dissolved and the onions have wilted. If necessary add a bit of water. Mix the sauce with the spaghetti, which have been cooked in salted water in the meantime "al dente".

JESOLO AND AROUND

Chess game

Every second weekend in September of even years, the magnificent Piazza degli Scacchi (chess square) hosts and relives the event of the daughter of Taddeo Parisio, the Lord of Marostica Castle, and the two youths Rinaldo d'Angarano and Vieri da Vallonara who contend for the hand of his beautiful daughter, Lionora. Over 600 people in period costumes reenact the legend of Lionora offering a spectacular performance, enriched by scenic effects and fireworks, knights and dancers, jugglers and fire eaters, comedians and musicians, swordsmen and above all citizens of Marostica. The first show is on Friday 11th and Saturday 12th September at 9 p.m. and it's performed also on Sunday at 5 p.m. and 9 p.m. More info: marosticascacchi.it
